DAVID PIDDOCK

Adam Gallery is delighted to present this show of new paintings by the London based artist David Piddock. On the back of winning the inaugural Moth Art Prize in 2016 and being shortlisted for the Young Masters prize earlier this year, David Piddock presents a new collection of characteristically semi-fictional urban landscapes. London settings are used as the basis for improvisation where past meets present and fact meets fiction. Settings range from Barrier Park, the landscaped gardens alongside the Thames Barrier to station platforms and riverscapes. Also art and sculpture, plundered from the great collections of London and elsewhere, appear in unexpected places. His work continues to look for innovation in established painting traditions.

Adam Gallery has been representing the artist for more than 10 years.
