Pedro Rodríguez Garrido

As the only gallery in the UK to represent Spanish artist Pedro Rodriguez Garrido we are delighted to be presenting his third one-man show in this country.

Pedro is exhibiting a collection of new works based around his preferred theme of 'cityscapes'. He has visited Bath and London to gather subject matter for the exhibition, but there are also scenes of Windsor, New York, and Madrid.

This show includes a number of works based on the wide avenues of Manhattan, a favourite haunt for the artist. There are also several works on paper – a medium that the artist has taken to with enthusiasm. In keeping with the subject matter, the speed of execution of these works reflects the dynamism which draws Pedro to cities as his place of inspiration. His popularity can in part be attributed to how successfully this approach allows him to share a very present experience with his audience. The grittiness of the city is still an essential part of these works and the surface often reflects this with textural elements such as sand and heavy impasto.

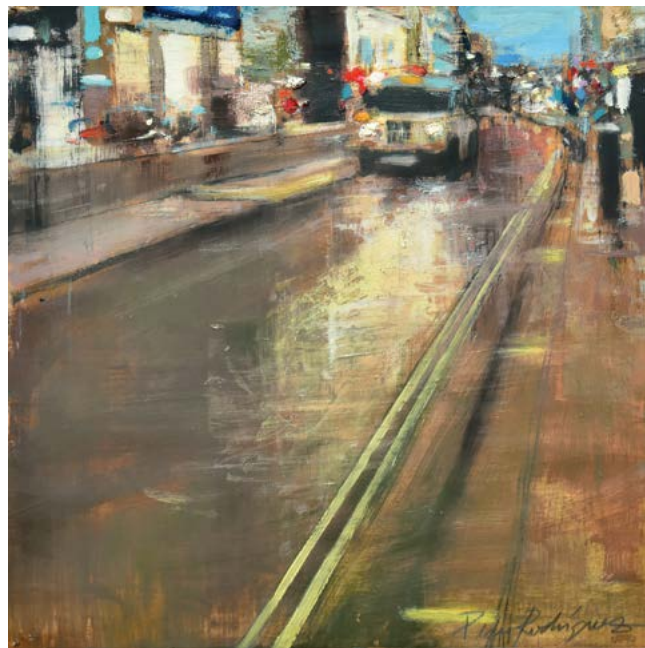

Perspectives shift between being immersed in the heart of the city, capturing the experience of walking or driving through it, or viewing it from a distance, often from above, communicating the scale and energy of the city as a living whole.

Born in Huelva, Spain in 1971, Garrido was educated at the University of Seville. It was after graduating that he often found himself drawn to exploring cities. Pedro has exhibited regularly in Spain, USA and Europe including a very successful show in Sweden. He currently lives in Spain and continues to paint depictions of living breathing cities at home and abroad.
